HUGGATE NEWS

October—November 2010

HUGGATE BACK ON LINE

The new village web site www.huggate.org.uk has now been produced by ERYC for the Parish Council. The content is a little sparse at the moment but we are working hard to fill it.

This is the village's web site and it needs your contributions.

Please — send any items of information, news and events to huggatenews@btinternet.com.

LAST CALL—OUTLYING HOUSES AND FARMS

Our stalwart delivery team has been getting Huggate News to the outlying addresses, but as the weather gets worse this may not be possible. Last chance call—if you would like Huggate news sent by email as a .pdf file, please send us your email address. Thank you to the two who have responded, and sorry if the others don't think us worth reading! In future the newsletter also will be on the web site.

CO-OPTION OF A COUNCILLOR

The Council wishes to co-opt a Councillor to fill a vacancy.

If you wish to be considered for co-option, please notify the Chair, Steve Poole (288132) or the Clerk, Jennifer Zarek (288525) by Tuesday 9th November

While the Council welcomes expressions of interest, this is not an election or a competitive process, and the Council is free to co-opt whoever it considers will best fill the vacancy.

Sink holes or watering holes?

Have you ever noticed the pits at the top of Millington Pasture and elsewhere in the area? Have you ever wondered what they are?

Any ideas? A speaker from Hull university recently suggested

- Chalk pits (but why such a small quarry, so far from the settlement of Huggate/Millington?)
- World War 2 bombers dropping munitions before performing emergency landings at the WW2 airfield base near Huggate
- Geological feature – “sinkhole”
- “dew” ponds

Another possibility is marling pits.

Is there any local knowledge that can shed light on this?

Answers on an email, please!
