new BLUE BINS

Residents should have received a letter about extension to the Blue Bin collection ... but apparently not all have!

In the new LARGER bins, in addition to paper, tins and plastic bottles, you can now put glass bottles / jars (and lids), most plastics, and tetrapak (juice and soup) cartons.

See <http://www.target45plus.org.uk/kerbside-collections/eastriding/blue-bin-changes/> for more details.

ERYC has supplied additional clarification:

- items should no longer be bagged as tins, plastic etc. but placed loose mixed in the bin
- Plastic bottle tops can now be included, either separately or left on the bottle
- plastic film from food trays can be included but not clingfilm
- plastic carrier bags can be included but not heavy plastic sheet such as compost bags
- Tetrapaks should go in the blue bin, NOT the brown bin
- no light bulbs of any type should be placed in any bin (including green); they should be taken to waste recycling centres
- broken glass can be included loose, without wrapping, as all handling is done mechanically (no Pyrex, please)
- The Household Waste Recycling Centres can now handle the same range of plastic as the blue bin—so all overflow can be taken to the tip

HIGH WOLDS HERITAGE GROUP NEW PUBLICATIONS

HUGGATE SCHOOL AND VILLAGE 1870-1900

by Trevor Smith

A highly entertaining evening was had by all those who supported the launch of the book “Huggate School and Village” on 25th November.

Thanks to Devlin Hunt, Adam and Emma Purdy, Ellie and James Harrison and Sophie Hopwood for their realistic re-enactment of village life in the late Victorian period. Their command of the East Yorkshire accent was commendable as they took on real characters who had attended Huggate School and shared their experiences of life in Huggate.

‘Twas an ‘ard life!

Copies can be purchased for £6.00 from Trevor Smith, tr.smith@btinternet.com

Also newly published: THE VILLAGES BOOK

exploring the villages of Acklam, Fimber, Fridaythorpe, Huggate, Leavening, Sledmere, Thixendale and Wetwang.

Foreword by Dr David Neave, Introduction by Dr Colin Hayfield

Discover the unique charm and distinctive character of these High Wolds villages through the pictorial and written evidence in this book. This publication by the High Wolds Heritage Group explores some of the local villages through a collection of over 170 photographs and captions depicting life from the late Victorian era to more recent times. Additional insight into life in these small communities is provided by written chapters which range from ‘water on the Wolds’ to churches, chapels and dialect. The area’s rich agricultural heritage is represented through the story of one farming family, whose experience of changing technology is reflected in so many aspects of village life. The evocative photographs remind us of how much has changed; trade, transport and leisure for example, yet a visitor to these villages would still recognise the essence of each place. Take the time to enjoy this book and then explore these places for yourself.

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH—SECURITY REMINDER

Within the last week, there have been two domestic burglaries within our area (Barmby Moor and Seaton Ross) where insecure premises have been attacked. On both occasions, the offender left muddy footprints in the houses concerned. We are again reminding everyone to be vigilant and to consider home security.

Thieves will take advantage of insecure houses and are clearly prepared to come out into our area to target property. Please ensure windows and doors are secured and that thieves are not given the chance to steal from insecure houses!

If you see anything suspicious, please ring Humberside Police on 0845 60 60 222 (or dial 101), or dial 999 if there is a crime in progress.
