NEWS FROM HUGGATE PARISH COUNCIL: COUNCILLORS' CODE OF CONDUCT

The Localism Act 2011 means that there are some changes to the regulations that govern parish councils. These include

- A requirement for all parish councils to adopt a code of conduct that complied with the regulations by 1st July 2012,
- Changes to the interests that councillors have to declare and the impact of these on procedures within meetings
- A requirement for all councillors to complete new registers of interest, and each register to be published on council websites by 28th July 2012.

Prejudicial interest is now replaced by pecuniary interest and councillors have to register and disclose pecuniary interests for themselves their partner/spouse/person they are living with. Unfortunately, the regulations did not define a pecuniary interest until after the June meeting of HPC. Accordingly, HPC adopted an interim code of conduct at the June meeting, to take these new regulations into account and comply with legislation. Since the June meeting, further information has been published, giving a prescriptive definition of what a pecuniary interest is. This means we will need to adopt a revised code of conduct at the July meeting and this will be published with the minutes from that meeting.

The new regulations mean that councillors with a pecuniary interest on an agenda item will not be allowed to speak to that item at all within the council meeting. We also agreed at the June meeting that councillors who had a pecuniary interest in an agenda item should leave the meeting room altogether whilst that item was discussed and any decisions made. In future it will be a criminal offence if a councillor

- Fails to register a pecuniary interest within 28 days of taking office
- Fails to register a pecuniary interest at a meeting
- Fails to register a new pecuniary interest within 28 days
- Participates in any discussion in which they have a pecuniary interest
- Votes in a matter in which they have a pecuniary interest
