"YOUR MISCHIEF THEIR MISERY"

Press Release for Campaign Launch Monday, 15th October 2012

This week, the Howden and Pocklington Neighbourhood Policing Teams are launching a campaign within their areas to highlight the problems caused over the October / November period leading up to and directly after Mischief Night on 4th November.

We want to put out a very strong message to that minority of young people tempted to take part in this kind of activity. Basically, it is "Use your head! Don't do it!"

To those who are involved, just think:

How would you feel if the victim was your mum, dad, grandma or granddad?
How would you feel if it was your house or car that had been covered in eggs or flour? (Remember egg can permanently damage car paintwork)

To parents and carers we are asking the questions:

Do you know where your children are?
Do you know what they are doing?

We need your help here! Please be aware! Please be responsible!

As always, we must stress that these problems are caused by a minority of young people and it is this minority who we are targeting through this campaign. The distress and misery caused by anti social behaviour and minor damage around Mischief Night can be traumatic for those targeted and very often the most vulnerable people in our communities are the victims.

This is not about fun. Very often these acts are openly malicious and property is permanently damaged. If offences are committed those responsible will be dealt with and our patrols will be out and about ensuring that we are around to do this.

A once-in-many-lifetimes event

CONSECRATION OF ST. MARY'S BURIAL GROUND EXTENSION

The consecration of a new burial ground in a village happens only once in several hundred years. This historic event was witnessed by about 40 residents on 14th October when the Bishop of Selby, Martin Wallace, consecrated the extension of the burial ground at St. Mary's Huggate.

A splendid tea followed!

The area is shown by four new markers, specially made by a local mason.

DRIFFIELD ROAD SPEED LIMIT

Following consultation with the Parish Council and concern expressed by residents, ERYC is proposing to extend the 30 mph speed limit boundary on Driffield Road further out of the village, to make clearer the start of the residential area.

Details can be found on the ERYC web site, and the post opposite the Wolds Inn. Any comments to be received by ERYC by 15th November.

ROAD CLOSURES

ERYC has now notified that the resurfacing of Pocklington Road and Iron Fence Road has been postponed to next April (...ish).
